

Badili Centre trains destitute women in most African communities. It offers entrepreneurial education and skills to help them become self employed enabling them earn a living for themselves as well as their children.

The manual can be used by individuals as a personal guide towards financial freedom and it can also be used by facilitators to guide women of diverse educational backgrounds and socio-economic exposure in attaining financial freedom.